

Terms of Use

Last updated: 9 June 2026

These Terms of Use govern access to and use of the volt.az website. By accessing or using the website, you confirm that you have read, understood and accepted these Terms.

1. General provisions

volt.az is an information platform and official sales channel operated by Solarix for solar energy equipment, technical solutions, design, supply, installation and related services.

Information published on the website is provided for general informational purposes. Product selection, technical calculations, project pricing and installation requirements are determined separately following a technical assessment and a formal commercial proposal.

2. Use of the website

The website may be used only for lawful purposes.

Users must not:

- interfere with the operation or security of the website;
- transmit viruses, malware or harmful code;
- attempt to obtain unauthorised access;
- submit false, misleading or third-party information without authority;
- use website content for unlawful commercial purposes;
- violate copyright or other intellectual property rights.

3. Products and technical information

Product images, specifications, dimensions, efficiency ratings, warranty information and other descriptions may be based on information supplied by manufacturers.

Solarix takes reasonable steps to keep information accurate and current. However, manufacturers may change product designs, specifications, packaging or included components without prior notice.

Product suitability for a particular project may require a separate technical assessment by Solarix specialists.

4. Prices and availability

Prices displayed on the website may be indicative and do not necessarily constitute a final commercial offer.

Prices may change depending on:

- product availability;
- order quantity;
- currency exchange rates;
- shipping and customs costs;
- installation-site conditions;
- additional materials and services;
- taxes and statutory charges.

An order is considered accepted only after written confirmation by Solarix and issuance of the relevant agreement, invoice or other formal order document.

5. Orders and payments

Users must provide complete and accurate information when submitting an order or enquiry.

Solarix may reject or cancel an order where:

- the product is unavailable;
- there is an obvious pricing or technical error;
- payment has not been confirmed;
- the transaction would violate applicable law;
- the customer has supplied false or incomplete information.

Payment terms, advance-payment requirements and payment deadlines are stated in the relevant quotation, invoice or agreement.

6. Delivery and installation

Delivery and installation dates may be estimates. Delays may occur due to logistics, customs procedures, manufacturing, weather conditions, government approvals, grid-connection procedures or other circumstances outside Solarix's reasonable control.

The exact installation scope, schedule, allocation of responsibilities and acceptance procedure are determined by a separate agreement.

7. Warranty

Applicable product warranties are governed by the manufacturer's warranty terms and the agreement concluded with Solarix.

A warranty may not cover:

- improper use;
- unauthorised modification or repair;

- incorrect installation;
- mechanical damage;
- abnormal grid voltage;
- natural disasters or force majeure;
- failure to follow manufacturer instructions.

8. Returns and exchanges

Returns and exchanges are handled in accordance with the laws of the Republic of Azerbaijan, the condition of the product, applicable manufacturer requirements and the agreement between the parties.

Custom-ordered, used, installed, damaged or project-specific products may be non-returnable to the extent permitted by law.

9. Intellectual property

Website texts, designs, logos, photographs, graphics, catalogues, technical materials and other content belong to Solarix or the relevant rights holders.

They may not be copied, modified, distributed, sold or used commercially without prior written permission.

10. Third-party links

The website may contain links to manufacturers, partners and other third-party websites.

Solarix is not responsible for the content, security, privacy practices or operation of third-party websites.

11. Limitation of liability

To the extent permitted by applicable law, Solarix:

- does not guarantee uninterrupted or error-free website operation;
- is not responsible for technical or financial decisions made solely on the basis of general website information;
- is not liable for indirect losses, loss of profit or loss of data.

Nothing in these Terms limits any mandatory consumer right granted by applicable law.

12. Personal data

Personal data submitted through the website is processed in accordance with applicable law and the volt.az Privacy Policy.

Users must submit only their own information or information they are legally authorised to provide.

13. Amendments

Solarix may update these Terms to reflect changes in legislation, services or website operation.

The revised Terms become effective when published on the website.

14. Governing law and disputes

These Terms are governed by the laws of the Republic of Azerbaijan.

Disputes should first be resolved through good-faith negotiations. Where no agreement can be reached, the dispute will be submitted to the competent courts of the Republic of Azerbaijan.
